Seminar to offer information to first home buyers

Property, legal and banking professionals will join forces next month to assist potential first home buyers.

SBS Bank Nelson manager Matthew Isbister said he would be joined by Haven Realty principal Darryl Marshall and Pauline Scott, a registered legal executive with C & F Legal, to present a seminar designed to give people the information they will need to assist them with decision making around buying their first home.

“Things move in the property market so a first home buyer seminar is an ideal place to start and get some questions answered about the various home loan options and what the local property market is doing.

“Pauline, Darryl and I will share information about a variety of topics, including goal setting, buying versus renting, why first home buyers need a lawyer, the different ways of making an offer on a property and how to apply for a home loan. Buying your first home is a huge financial commitment and we want to provide as much valuable information as we can to empower potential first home buyers and help them make the right decisions.

“We all feel it is a great time to buy with interest rates being relatively low, potential benefits from the recent tax cuts and house prices now back at levels that we haven’t seen in years.”

Mr Isbister said the first home buyer seminar would be held in mid to late February depending on interest and the occasion would be casual and informative. Anyone wanting to register their interest in attending could do so by calling SBS Bank on 0800 502 442.
